CLIENT TESTIMONIALS

He's one of the most intelligent people I've ever known, and certainly from the point of view of just practical awareness of what's going on in the economy. It's something that has been with him since he was very young. He combines being highly intelligent and being well-read and keeping up with the market with a tremendous amount of energy. The thing that I have always felt was the most important aspect of his personality is his integrity. I would trust him with my life.

Nick is a great CPA who does work in a very fast and expedient manner. He's honest and he works to your best benefit and that's what I tell every one of the people that I deal with.

I've found Nick to be very, very straight forward and very honest and very much interested in serving the needs of his clients – working literally in partnership with them to achieve the goals they wish. He has been totally honest and ethical in everything that he has done for me.

As far as saving my company money and saving me money personally, he's the only CPA who's done that for me. He's done a lot of favors for me, too - let's see, when I wanted to get refinancing for a home once, he redirected me to somebody. He gave me some advice one time I needed an attorney for a real estate matter and he directed me in that and gave me some good information. He's been a CPA that's also been a friend and really helped me out a lot.

He's probably the closest guy you get to outside of your doctor or attorney. When you're sitting across from him, working with him, you really feel that he's giving you personalized attention – and that's important.
